

ABSTRACT

This invention provides a notch filter including a main transmission line, a coupling mechanism, and at least one electrically tunable resonator coupled to the transmission line through the coupling mechanism. A tunable dielectric varactor or a microelectromechanical variable capacitor is provided in each of the resonators. Wireless telephone handsets that include the filter are also included.